HISTORY OF PLANT NAME... The Plant name "Plente," occurred in 1219 in Oxford & Kent. The name Plant appears near Chester by 1301 & Plante in Kent in 1303. or earlier in the 14th century, Plont, is known to be established in East Cheshire border of Staffordshire. The name may come from the Plantagenet kings ie., the illegitimate half-brother of Henry II, Hamelyn Plantagenet who married Isabel de Warenne in 1164 & inherited the earldom of Surrey. Offspring may have retained interest in the Plant(a/e)genet name. By the 17th Century there were 2 clusters of Plants in England that can be related back to the 13th Century.

Probably the need to find work drove them to the Potteries & Black Country of Staffordshire. At the end of the 19th century there was 36% of the Plant's living in Staffordshire. The total number of Plants in England was 6697 people at end of 19th Century. The earliest Plant in Staffordshire was John Plant Baptised on 8-17-1634 & he had a dtgr Marjorita Plant baptizes on 8-19-1638 in Leek.

There were successful Plants with one being Henry Bradley Plant who in 1883 established a railroad line from Sanford to Tampa, FL & established the city of Plant City, FL. At least 8 companies with the Plant name were associated with the pottery industry in the 19th century.

DNA studies are being done and seem to indicate the origin to one man per the Plant Family History Group located in England.

There is a family crest which has a shield of silver with a sloping blue band from upper right to lower left. At the upper 1/3 of the band is a red rose. On top the shield is a red, walking stag in profile. Sloping band is bastardy. Rose might mean allegiance to the Lancastrians.

There is a Plant Family History Group in England which keeps the history of this name. E-mail address is: <http://www.plant-fhg.org.uk>. & from whence I got this information with a request to join!

The sons George and Stephen started working in the coal mines in England when they were only nine years old, and by the time son George was eighteen he took charge of a high pressure engine, which he ran until he was twenty-six. He sold coal for a while in Michelsfield, England until 1879 when he came to America. He worked for one year in Madison Co., Ohio after which he held the position of mining boss for the Elmwood Mine in Tennessee. In 1882 he went to Rendville, Ohio to work as an engineer for the W.P. Rend Co. He may of gotten a job for his brother, because in 1882 Stephen, Sarah, (our ancestor), all nine of their children, and his parents, George and Dinah came to America to live in Rendville. This son, George, left Ohio with his wife and children and went to New Jersey to work.
